How to recognize a main idea in a short story

Before you begin

What you need:

Related text: "Powder" by Tobias Wolff

Approximate time this exercise should take you: 30 minutes

Reminder

In order to explore your basic understanding of a short story, ask yourself some of the following questions: What is the basic plot of the story? Where does the story take place? Who is/are the main character(s)? What conflicts are developed in the story? What are some of the traits that characterize the main characters? What is the point of view of narration? When does the story take place? Why do certain events occur? Does the title have significance or importance? How does this connect to the main idea of the story?

Instructions

Complete the series of exercises below. If you respond carefully to each question, your answers will lead you to the central, controlling main idea(s) of "Powder," by Tobias Wolff. Compare your answers to the Answer key that follows.

Exercise 3

Elements of literature

A. Plot

The series of related events in the short story forms the plot structure. To piece together the plot, ask yourself how the story begins, what conflicts are established to build suspense, how the story comes to a turning point or climax and, in the end, how the conflicts are resolved.

| Introduction. How does the story begin?   |
|---|
| a)  |
| b) —  |
| c) —  |
| Conflicts. State three conflicts that are subtly introduced to the reader as the story unfolds.          |
| b) —  |
| c)  |
| Complications. How is each conflict "complicated" by circumstances that evolve in the plot of the story? |
| b) —  |
| c) —  |
| Suspense. State two examples of suspense that develop as part of the plot.                               |

C. Setting

Answer these five questions about setting. Additionally, think about how the setting affects the characters.

1. Where does the story take place?

2. What season is it?

3. What is the weather like?

5. What mood/atmosphere is created by the setting?

D. Point of view of narration

Describe the landscape.

Why is the first-person narration effective in this story? (What effect does the point of view have on your understanding of the story?)

Answer key

Elements of literature

A. Plot

1. Introduction

- a) The father and son go skiing at Mount Baker.
- b) The mother does not trust the father.
- c) Snow begins to fall and increase in intensity.

2. Conflicts

- a) Father / mother unstable marriage
- b) Father / son / weather the increase of snow/ the turbulent weather
- c) Father/son there is a distinct personality contrast between them

3. Complications

- a) The father's irresponsible decision to stay at Mount Baker longer will only aggravate the marital conflict.
- b) The snow storm increases, the road is blocked, and they can't return home according to their original plan.
- c) The son wants to return to the comforts of home, while the father seems eager to continue to add risk to their situation.

4. Suspense

- a) Will the parents reconcile their marriage as both father and son want?
- b) Will it stop snowing and will they get home safely and in time for Christmas Eve dinner?

5. Turning point/climax

This is when the father and son break through the barricade and start their trip home.

www.ccdmd.qc.ca/en

6. Resolution

The reader realizes the parents will probably not get together again; however, father and son, in driving on the "closed road" together, do create a new bond as they share and enjoy the common experience of the powder.

B. Character

Father's Traits:

- 1. Irresponsible
- 2. Risk-taker
- 3. Persistent/persuasive

Son's Traits:

- 1. Responsible
- 2. Cautious
- 3. Anxious

C. Setting

- 1. Mount Baker / the snowy road home
- 2. Winter/ Christmas Eve
- 3. It is snowy and stormy
- 4. There is an empty road, nothing but snow, trees, hills, switchbacks an almost "uncharted" landscape
- 5. A tense mood

D. Point of view of narration

The point of view of narration, the first person, is effective because the reader understands the story through the eyes of the son, the person in the story who is undergoing conflict, who is trying to make sense of his father's behaviour and who, in the end, has to deal with his parents' separation and his own coming of age – his making sense of the whole situation with his father and his own personality. The reader empathizes with his situation and appreciates his learning experience.

E. Title

The title, "Powder," appropriately applies to the snow, the storm, and the challenge of driving through the deep powder. But it also relates to the father's free spirit, the motion that can be associated with powder snow, and the son's eventual acceptance and feeling of freedom, the experience that driving through the fresh powder snow under unknown driving conditions allows him to feel.

F. Possible main ideas/theme statements:

- Parent and child relationships can become stronger if both respect their differences in approach to life and, as a result, enjoy their common experiences.
- In order to mature and learn to appreciate life, it is essential to experience one's surroundings and accept and overcome the challenges that life contains.
- Escaping the ordinary and experiencing the extraordinary is important in living life to the fullest.
- It is important to know yourself and understand your limits, but also to respect others for their approach to life.

Your theme statement may differ from those suggested in the above list, but your main idea should be similar.

Answer key

Reading comprehension questions: Reinforcing the main idea of the text

- 1. (d) In this passage the reader is aware that the son is happily cooperating with his father as they drive along the snowy highway.
- 2. d) The father seems to have mastered the art of persuasion.
- 3. (b) "Christmas Eve" is the most fitting title from the list because most of the events of the story take place on Christmas Eve as the father tries his hardest to bring him home safely for his holiday meal with his mother.
- 4. (a) Adults and children is the best response because the author is using the father and son relationship, in particular, to show how sometimes children are more adult in their behaviour than the significant adults in their lives.
- 5. (a) The narrator is portrayed as nervous, anxious and cautious.
- 6. False In the story when the narrator says "buying a little more time before my mother decided to make the split final," the reader realizes there isn't probably any hope for reconciliation between the parents.
- 7. (c) The father knows he has behaved irresponsibly and that, once again, his excuses won't be accepted by his (ex) wife.
- 8. True By the end of the story, the son is ready to relax and trust his father, a very skilled driver.
- 9. (d) The son is very impressed by his father's ability to drive the fresh powder, knowing it is a unique driving skill.
- 10. (b) Obviously, the son and father learn from each other and appreciate each other's differences.
